

COMMERCIAL CLAIMS SERVICE

KNOW YOUR SHIPMENT IS SAFE BEFORE IT EVER LEAVES THE WAREHOUSE.

Theft. Crashes. Water damage. Groundings. Shipping claims are complex. Someone has entrusted you with their cargo and when the job goes wrong, you need to make it right. Or you've entrusted your cargo or equipment to someone else, and you need protection for accidents you can't control. Either way, The Hartford has the experience, expertise and resources to help set things right.

DEDICATED MARINE CLAIMS TEAM

At the heart of good marine claims handling is an understanding of the shipping industry and its unique equipment, practices, contracts, laws and courtroom rules. Our team has great experience in both inland and ocean marine claims with:

- 12 years' average experience
- An Ocean Marine adjuster who worked many years as a marine surveyor
- Builder's risk and contractor's equipment claims handled by major case adjusters, who average 23 years' experience
- Equipment breakdown specialists on staff

EXPERTISE WHEN AND WHERE IT'S NEEDED

Our team can consult on claims when it's needed, providing reviews of claim activities and advising on loss mitigation, subrogation strategies and salvage opportunities. We also have outside expertise on call when we need it, including:

- Marine surveyors, engineers, third-party salvors, equipment specialists, scientific testing labs
 - Worldwide network
 - 15 years' experience, minimum
- Close collaboration with The Hartford's legal team on liability defense and a stable of law firms specializing in marine legal issues

The key to good Marine claims management is understanding the unique aspects of any marine claim – whether ocean marine, motor truck cargo, warehouse logistics, builder's risk, or contractor's equipment – and having the knowledge and resources to help set things right. The Hartford has the experience to do just that.
