

Find out if you're vulnerable to ransomware before a hacker lets you know.

Phishing, remote access and common system vulnerabilities are the root causes of over 90% of ransomware attacks.¹

Ransomware remains one of the biggest cybersecurity threats facing businesses today. As a policyholder of The Hartford, select commercial insureds can take advantage of The Hartford's Ransomware Mitigation Suite to help assess your organization's ransomware risks, remediate vulnerabilities known to result in ransomware attacks and help prevent potential ransomware incidents.

How It Works

Step 1 – Request access to The Hartford's Ransomware Mitigation Suite today.

Step 2 – Meet Your Breach Coach

Receive a complimentary 1-hour ransomware consultation with a data privacy/cybersecurity "breach coach."

After registering, you'll be contacted via email by a pre-approved data privacy/cybersecurity "breach coach" within 1-2 business days.

This 1-hour complimentary introduction and consultation also includes:

- Overview of the latest ransomware types
- Description of the most common ransomware attack vectors
- Recommendations for ransomware prevention
- Answers to your cybersecurity/data privacy questions

You can later contact this breach coach should your organization ever need assistance with a potential ransomware attack or other cybersecurity incident.

Step 3 – Identify Your Organization's Cyber Vulnerabilities

Receive a complimentary Bitsight Security Ratings Report, platform access and consultation via email.

After registering, you'll receive an email invitation to the Bitsight platform and your customized Ratings Report within 1-5 business days.

- Your organization can utilize this Ratings Report to identify potential security vulnerabilities your organization faces today
- After receiving your Bitsight access and report, a dedicated Bitsight Customer Success Manager (CSM) will contact you via email to discuss the report and answer any questions
- NOTE: If you identify any inaccuracies regarding the IP addresses or website domains by which Bitsight attributes to your organization, please notify Bitsight of this issue immediately during your complimentary consultation or email Bitsight directly at eva@bitsight.com to request that any inaccuracies are corrected.
